CARUSO A POOR ACTOR

By Charles Fleischer.

Caruso, Emma, don't a trio of glorious singers, and, in the reverse order, a trio of actors that would be notable did not Caruso sing as far in the rear, as, in the singing, as he is in the lead.

As three continued, the night, to make the performance of Puccini's "Tosca," based on Sardou's melodrama of the same name, a memorable occasion.

Again the Boston Theatre was crowded, from orchestra to distant balcony, with an eager, respectful and somewhat noisy audience, and the audience was somewhat noisy.

That few thousand were evidently greater than the opera-house, and, in the end, to give a new season and to welcome General.

Last night's great gathering, I think, was about one hundred. It was a great success, and the audience was very good.

Emma Emmes, a New England product, was about one hundred. It was a great success, and the audience was very good.

New England Justly Proud of Emma Emmes.

When the wedding appeared and lasted long enough, some indignation was levelled. But the bride was plainly meant for the bridegroom and not for Caruso.

Emma Emmes we feel to be one of our own, a New England product, and we are justly proud of her. She is a great singer, and her performance of Puccini's "Tosca" was a memorable occasion.

GERMAN KAISER PUTS IMPERIAL BAN ON THREE DANCES

"The Epileptic Boston," "the Mattheiche" and the cake walk barred in all the polite circles of the empire by forbidding them to officers of army and navy.

MUSTN'T DANCE THE CAKE WALK, SAYS KAISER

BERLIN, April 3.—Emperor William has issued a decree forbidding the dance known as "the Epileptic Boston," "the Mattheiche" and the cake walk in all the polite circles of the empire. The decree is based on the grounds that these dances are "immoral and indecent." The Emperor's decree is a surprise to many, as these dances are very popular in Germany.

EX-GOVERNOR GARVIN IS WEDDED TO BLIND GIRL

Romance Began When Bride Lost Her Sight at Seven Years of Age.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 3.—Former Governor Lucius F. Garvin and Miss Sarah Emma Tomlinson, the blind girl, were wedded here today. The bride is a beautiful girl, and the groom is a well-known man. The wedding was a very simple affair, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. C. Glavin, pastor of the Congregational church.

CONDUCTOR VIGAS' Control a Delight

Perhaps the unimagined hero of the evening was Mr. Arthur Vigas, the conductor of the orchestra. He was a young man, and he was very well liked by the audience. He was a very good conductor, and he was a very good man. He was a very good man, and he was a very good conductor.

EDDY TRUST DEED COUP Baffles the Plaintiffs

Friends of Aged Christian Science Leader Satisfied That Courts Will Grant Petition and End Suit.

By Ernest I. Jackson.

CONCORD, N. H., April 3.—One of the most remarkable and admirable moves yet made in the case of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, through "next friends" against Calvin Fry and other Christian Scientist leaders for an accounting, was placed on the court record yesterday when Hon. Henry M. Baker, cousin of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy and former member of Congress, Josiah E. Pernal of Concord, president of the State Capital Bank, and Archibald McLean, member of the Christian Science publishing board, intervened and petitioned to replace the original petitioners of "next friends" of Mrs. Eddy.

The third and last named of the three men named in the petition to act as trustees is of such unquestioned integrity that there seems to be no doubt in the minds of the people of Concord, every one of whom is discussing the new motion, that the court will allow the petition to remain as requested, and in so doing will have secured for Mrs. Eddy the satisfaction of having her name removed from the list of trustees, and will have secured for her the satisfaction of having her name removed from the list of trustees.

"RESIGN OR WED," EDICT TO PRINCIPAL

General Baker in a long interview for the BOSTON AMERICAN last night stated the pleasure over the decision and expressed his satisfaction in an unreserved language. The general, who is looked upon as one of the most distinguished residents of Concord, is considered by many as the most powerful factor in the committee of trustees, for he has a remarkable knowledge of law and is well known to the public.

Why All This Fuss Over the Marriage of a Millionaire?

PITY THE WOMAN WHO "NAGS"

DURING the most perilous of all the warlike nerve habits which afflict women, is due to exhaustion of the nervous system from want of due rest, nourishment, or recreation. In a word, it is the result of undue nervousness.

A woman who has developed the nagging habit needs medicine, not mockery.

She is most likely in urgent need of rest cure, change of scene, freedom from worry, and abundant—indeed superabundant—nourishment.

It is often forgotten—if, indeed, it has ever been learned—that housekeeping on a small income is one of the most nerve-racking and health-destroying occupations about the sun, and that (unlike the man who has his business hours sharply defined) a woman's work is never done, ending, indeed, only when flesh and blood can endure no longer.

Messrs. Harriman and Roosevelt

Their FIGHT Is People's GAIN. Much Valuable Information in It

LETTER written more than a year ago by E. H. Harriman tells interesting truths about the Roosevelt campaign fund.

It has just been published, contrary to the wishes of Mr. Harriman, and, needless to say, contrary to the wishes of Mr. Roosevelt. But, while the two gentlemen involved are sorry to see the letter published, it is valuable to the people, inestimably valuable.

It teaches some things that the people did not know about the last election to the Presidency of the United States AND ABOUT THE CHARACTER OF THE GENTLEMAN AT PRESENT IN THE WHITE HOUSE.

It emphasizes interestingly from the inside some truths that this newspaper has often printed as to the character of Elihu Root, the Tweed lawyer, who now disgraces the office of Secretary of State.

IT SHOWS WHERE SOME OF THE MONEY STOLEN FROM THE LIFE INSURANCE POLICY HOLDERS WENT, AND IT PROVES THAT MR. ROOSEVELT HIMSELF MIGHT VERY PROPERLY REFUND SOME OF THAT MONEY, SINCE IT WAS SPENT ON HIS ELECTION, FOLLOWING HIS DIRECT APPEAL FOR FUNDS TO MR. HARRIMAN.

The letter, of course, is disgraceful to all of those concerned in it.

And the letters which Mr. Roosevelt himself publishes, following upon this scandalous expose, are even more disgraceful.

Here is an extract from this famous Harriman letter—a letter which has its place in the history of corrupt American politics, and a letter which will never be wiped out of the record of Theodore Roosevelt EVEN IF HE WERE TO APPLY THE WORD "LIAR" TO EVERY ADULT VOTER IN THE UNITED STATES.

Says Mr. Harriman:

"Ryan's success in all his manipulations, traction deals, tobacco combination, manipulation of the State Trust Company into the Morton Trust Company, the Shoe and Leather Bank into the Western National Bank, and then again into the Bank of Commerce—thus covering up his tracks—has been done by the adroit mind of Elihu Root, and this present situation has been brought about by a combination of circumstances which has brought together the Ryan, Root, Roosevelt element."

It is a shameful thing for American voters to read such a letter as that which Harriman wrote and which the accidental treachery of a secretary made public.

This letter shows that upon Roosevelt's personal appeal and upon promises made, Harriman, after an interview with the President, gave to Bliss, who gave to the President's representative, Cortelyou, $200,000, including $50,000 from Harriman's private pocket.

Subsequently, when Harriman was asked for more money to oblige Mr. Roosevelt, HARRIMAN REFUSED TO GIVE THE MONEY.

He refused on the ground that Roosevelt had not KEPT THE PROMISES IN CONSIDERATION OF WHICH THE OTHER CASH INSTALLMENT HAD BEEN PAID BY HARRIMAN.

As to the payment of this money by Harriman to the President, THE TRUTH CANNOT BE HIDDEN THERE. Mr. Roosevelt has occasionally felt it his duty, when disagreeable truths came out, to use the short word "liar." He applied that word to H. M. Whitney, who had previously had a good reputation.

He applied it to H. W. Bowen, an honorable man, who had presumed to denounce Mr. Roosevelt's man Loomis, who happened also to be the man of the Asphalt Trust.

Mr. Roosevelt had applied the word also to Senator W. E. Chandler, a man universally respected, A MAN THAT NEVER TOOK ANY POLICY HOLDERS MONEY OR ANY HARRIMAN MONEY TO GET ELECTED.

Mr. Roosevelt had applied his favorite, and in his mind argument-settling, epithet to numerous others, including J. F. Wallace and G. O. Shields and Bellamy Storer and Senator Tillman.

Versatile and original as ever, Mr. Roosevelt has applied the word "liar" to Harriman.

BUT HE HAS NOT EXPLAINED AWAY THAT $200,000 WHICH HARRIMAN GAVE TO HELP ELECT HIM.

AND BLISS DOES NOT DARE DENY THAT THE MONEY WAS PAID TO HIM.

And Cortelyou would not dare deny it if put under oath.

AND ROOSEVELT WOULD NOT DARE DENY THAT HE KNEW ALL ABOUT IT IF HE WERE PUT UNDER OATH.

We have said that the letters which Mr. Roosevelt has published by way of "explaining" the shameful truths revealed in the Harriman letter are as disgraceful as that Harriman letter itself, and they are.

To begin with, Mr. Roosevelt publishes a letter which he himself wrote to Harriman, and that letter he publishes, as every man can see, SIMPLY BECAUSE HE KNEW THAT HARRIMAN WOULD PRINT IT, IF HE DID NOT.

In this letter, which the President of the United States sent to Harriman, and which he now issues to protect himself if he can, he says, writing to Harriman, who was about to raise that great corruption fund of $200,000, in addition to others previously raised:

"Personal." Oct. 1, 1904.

My Dear Mr. Harriman: A suggestion has come to me in a roundabout way that you do not think it wise to come on to see me in these closing weeks of the campaign, but that you are reluctant to refuse, inasmuch as I have asked you. Now, my dear sir, you and I are practical men, and you are on the ground and know the conditions better than I do. If you think there is any danger of your visit to me causing trouble, or if you think there is nothing special I should be informed about, or any matter in which I could give aid, why, of course, give up the visit for the time being, and then a few weeks hence, before I write my message I shall tell you to come down to discuss certain Government matters, not connected with the campaign. With great regards, sincerely yours.

We want readers, honest men, those who do not petition big capitalists for money to debauch the ballot, to read carefully this letter, WHICH HARRIMAN IN THIS FIGHT WOULD HAVE PRINTED HAD ROOSEVELT NOT PRINTED IT FIRST.

Mr. Roosevelt, calling all other men liars, and allowing his own immaculate perfection and honesty to be taken for granted, writes CONFESSING his hesitancy in seeing publicly the man from whom he was to get for his campaign fund an enormous sum, part of it from policyholders and, there fore, stolen money.

In this letter which we have quoted to you Mr. Roosevelt says to Harriman, who is now his enemy: "Now, my dear sir, you and I are practical men, and you are on the ground and know the conditions better than I do. If you think there is any danger of your visit to me causing trouble . . . give up the visit for the time being."

Are there any two meanings to that? Isn't this the letter of a man who means to say:

WHILE I HAVE ASKED YOU TO COME DOWN HERE AND DISCUSS THE RAISING OF MONEY FOR ME AND THE CONDITIONS ON WHICH YOU WILL RAISE IT, I CAN REALIZE OUR DISCUSSION MIGHT CAUSE SUSPICION. IF YOU THINK IT WOULD CAUSE SUSPICION, WAIT AWHILE.

Isn't that what Mr. Roosevelt meant? He might well say "YOU AND I ARE PRACTICAL MEN."

Very practical, indeed, as it turned out. VERY practical, indeed, and at the expense of life insurance policy holders.

This Harriman revelation, and the even more damaging and shameful confession contained in the President's letter to Mr. Harriman, will come as a shock to many citizens. The President has been eloquent and frequent in publishing his own estimate of his own character. In some quarters, although NOT in the office of Harriman or Morgan or Root's client, Ryan, Mr. Roosevelt has been taken at his own valuation.

This Harriman letter, and the Roosevelt letter proposing secrecy to the great railroad man, will open many eyes.

But the publication of the scandal should do more than enlighten the people.

It should compel the restitution by Mr. Roosevelt of every dollar he got from life insurance policy holders.

The $50,000 which Harriman gave him as a present to his man Cortelyou Mr. Roosevelt has a right to keep. It was spent on the campaign with Harriman's consent. And then if Harriman did NOT get what was promised to him, that is an affair between him and the President.

But the money put into Mr. Roosevelt's campaign AND TAKEN OUT OF THE POCKETS OF POLICY HOLDERS was stolen money.

Mr. Perkins does not put on quite as fine an appearance of high-stepping morality as does the President.

And yet, as all the world knows, Mr. Perkins, out of his own pocket, UNDER PRESSURE OF THREATENED LITIGATION, returned a very large sum of policy holders' money which he had contributed to a campaign fund.

Is there any reason why Mr. Roosevelt should do less?

Will he await the threat of litigation?

Is there any reason why he should fail to investigate closely the source of this $200,000 which Mr. Harriman contributed at his request and repay every dollar or compel the restitution of every dollar that may have been taken from American citizens without their consent?

If it be urged on Mr. Roosevelt's behalf that he is too poor to repay this money, THEN A BILL SHOULD BE INTRODUCED IN CONGRESS TO MAKE A SPECIAL APPROPRIATION FOR THE PURPOSE.

The people of the United States will willingly repay that money rather than have it said that funds were taken in that way from innocent policy holders and allow such a stain to rest upon the national government.

Should President Roosevelt, Mr. Cortelyou and Mr. Bliss fail to imitate Mr. Perkins in the line of restitution, THEN SOME OTHER ACTION SHOULD BE TAKEN.

The simplest course would be for a policy holder in the Equitable to bring a suit as an individual against Messrs. Harriman, Cortelyou, Bliss and Roosevelt and to compel them under oath to tell the exact truth. ALL THAT THEY INDIVIDUALLY KNOW ABOUT THE POLICY HOLDERS' MONEY AND WHERE IT WENT.

This would be in the nature of a "square deal." It would be along the lines of backing up about 900 volumes of words that thus far have lacked DEEDS.

Restitution is a plain duty, although, unfortunately, no restitution now, no explanations, no voluble reiteration of the word "liar," can take the disagreeable taste out of the mouth of the American people. They SEE the inside workings of their political machine.

They see in an election for President the head of a trust summoned by the head of the Nation TO SUPPLY AN ENORMOUS SUM OF MONEY AS AN OFFSET TO THE PROBABLE EXPRESSION OF THE PEOPLE'S WILL.

The feeble effort of Mr. Roosevelt to make it appear that his interest and his concern WERE ALL FOR POOR MR. HIGGINS will deceive nobody.

Americans can be fooled. They have been, and nobody knows it better than the President.

But while Americans can be fooled, THEY ARE NOT FOOLS.

And they know that Mr. Higgins on the ticket when that money was asked for was THEODORE ROOSEVELT running for President of the United States.

And they know that when Mr. Roosevelt sent for Harriman and asked for cash while he TALKED about Higgins, HE WAS THINKING OF SOMEBODY NEARER HOME.

And they know that when Mr. Roosevelt wrote that shameful letter, in which he suggested that it might be unsafe for him and Harriman to appear together discussing cash, he understood extremely well the nature of the act in which he was engaged AND WHAT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WOULD THINK OF IT IF THEY ALSO UNDERSTOOD IT.

Mr. Roosevelt here faces a scandal of signed documents, THE WORST OF THEM SIGNED BY HIMSELF. And he cannot settle this matter by calling anybody a liar.

HE CAN settle it PARTIALLY by compelling a return of that money.

He will never be able to use quite the same lofty tone in criticizing others, in preaching to others, as he has done hitherto.

His turn has come, as, apparently, it had to. The exposure is absolute. The only hope of those involved is to live it down, AND THAT HOPE IS A FAINT ONE.
